Dear Mac:

Before leaving as Director of Central Intelligence I want to express my personal appreciation for the excellent support you have provided to me during the past year.

Your considerable knowledge and experience in areas of great sensitivity to the fulfillment of the U.S. foreign intelligence mission, coupled with your integrity and dedication, have contributed importantly to my ability to meet my responsibilities to the President and to the Congress.

The progress we have made this year toward making the U.S. foreign intelligence effort more responsive and responsible--and I believe the record will stand scrutiny--is due in large measure to the efforts of intelligence professionals like you. I know that I need not urge that you continue to provide the same fine support to future DCI's.

Sincerely,

/s/ George Bush
